

A Review of The Magician by Michael Scott

By Jack Wooldridge

I really enjoyed the Magician. It carries on from where the Alchemyst left off, with Josh, Sophie, Nicholas Flamel (previously called Nick Fleming), and Scathach. It begins with a fight against a wax golem (a huge figure made of wax) inside one of Paris' cathedrals. They escape there, but one of John Dee's allies has put a lock down on the city, police are everywhere, and John Dee is flying over from America to unleash the hideous Nidhogg on them. Can Sophie's newfound fire magic, Nicholas' brains, Scathach's fighting skill and Josh's reckless heroics save them?

I enjoyed the Magician, and I will definitely look for other books by this author.
