

Dear Bob,

We were at the Happy Clam seafood restaurant last weekend, and some really weird stuff happened. One of the servers grabbed clams from his tray and began throwing them across the room. One hit me on the head. Then everyone started pelting him with food, but sometimes they missed, and soon everybody was flinging food at each other. Then the restaurant was closed and everyone was thrown out, including those of us who hadn't thrown any food! It was weird. I won't eat there again.

From,
Joe

Dear Sir,

The conduct of your staff at the Happy Clam Seafood restaurant was abominable. Not only did one of your servers start a food fight, but I received a grievous head wound from a large clam. Also, I was thrown out without being allowed to finish my meal. I demand immediate reparations or I'm calling my lawyer.

From,
Mr Fred Bathems

Dear Great Grandma,

...I saw a really weird food fight in the Happy Clam yesterday as we walked past. It looked like everyone was hurling food at each other. People are funny sometimes, aren't they?

From,
Your great grandson, Eddie