

Jack's Nature Journal
2-25-09

On our walk this morning, we saw no clouds whatsoever. The wind wasn't blowing very hard today, as I only recorded 1 mph from the NW, although I am sure it blew harder than that on the walk. The air pressure is 30.42 inHg, the humidity is 29% (it is a lot drier today) and the temperatures are 43.9°F and 6.6°C. It was bright and sunny this morning, and warm enough that I didn't have to wear my ski pants (although I felt pretty cold at some points).

This morning we saw a jay that was mocking a Red-tailed Hawk. For a little bit, we actually thought there was a Red-tail in the tree where he was. It was very interesting. We also saw some crows, and heard some sparrows fighting and squawking away up in the woods.