On our walk this morning, it was warm, though not as warm as it was yesterday. It is started to get warmer, and the snow is melting in droves. Spring is coming! The sky this morning was about 1 okta full of cirrus and cumulus clouds, but it quickly spread and evolved. Today we saw a cloud changing. It started out as one shape, it swirled and changed and finally puffed itself out and disappeared. The wind this morning was coming from the NW at 2 mph, the air pressure is 30.39 inHg, the humidity is 27% and the temperatures are 47.7°F and 8.7°C.

This morning we saw a mockingbird (which fooled us by imitating another bird), some juncos and dead deer by the side of the road.
