

Hot Cross Bun Disaster!

One day, my mother was making Hot Cross Buns for Easter, and was sort of absentmindedly moving around the kitchen, thinking about something else. Most of the time she managed to get everything in correctly, but when she went to grab the sugar she grabbed the salt instead. We didn't notice until later when one of us bit into one! Bluurgh!