

Jack's Nature Journal
10-13-08

It was raining this morning. No, let me rephrase that. It was bucketing this morning! The roads were wet with rain and the woods were downright slippery. The cloud cover was eight oktas of stratus clouds (as you have probably guessed based on the weather). I can only give you the wind speed this morning, as my wind direction gage was broken yesterday by someone coming down the hallway with a large bag. But here is the wind speed: a lousy 0.5 mph. The rain is pouring almost straight down. The air pressure is 30.45 inHg, the humidity is 49% and the temperatures are 48°F and 9°C. It's a typical rainy day!