

How was Mountain Lake formed?

By Rachel

Mt. Lake was formed by glaciers excavating out the landscape to create cirques. Later, when the glaciers melted, they filled the bowl-like cirques with water creating glacial lakes or tarns.

The glaciers also leave behind debris. These are called moraines.

The moraines form a natural dam below the tarns.