

Except for toddlers who play with their food, what most other people do at mealtime: eat.

A type of cheese made from goats milk: feta.

What the British drink with crumpets: Tea.

To serve food for special events, like weddings: Cater

Something Jack Sprat could not eat: fat.

Though some people gag at even the thought of it, many people love eating this part of a pig after pickling: Feet.

Where the French go out for lunch: Cafe.

A glass container used to serve coffee: Carafe.

A side dish common with Mexican, Indian or Asian food: Rice.

A cooler won't do you much good without this: Ice.

Something you cannot, apparently, escape: Fate.

There ___ twelve mice: Are.

Something that is difficult to accomplish: Feat.

A small, furry feline: Cat.

A way to copy something from one piece of paper to another: Trace.

Something a cat would chase: Rat.

That's where it's: At.

A competition, sometimes in cars: Race.

A vehicle most people use to get around: Car.

Don't get stuck in the ___ pit: Tar.